

SALT RIVER HERALD.

SATURDAY, MARCH 18.

In the next issue of the HERALD we will publish an interesting article descriptive of Cave Creek District, its mines, etc.

We understand that Phoenix is the site for a branch mint in Arizona is receiving favorable consideration from the House Committee.

We have been compelled to lay over some very interesting correspondence this week from Tip-Top and Prescott. The steadily increasing advertising patronage accorded the HERALD is the cause.

As Phoenix is the only repeating office in Arizona it would be the proper point from which to construct a telegraph line to Signal City and besides it would follow the only wagon road into this rich country.

We would call the attention of some of our capitalists to the fact that the demand for dwelling houses far exceed the supply, and no better use could be made with some of their surplus wealth than to build.

Upon the arrival of the establishment of Asher & Wollenburg, from Prescott, we will have nine large mercantile houses, a fact which denies the statement of the Prescott "enterprise" that the people of this valley subsist entirely on pumpkins.

ONLY a few weeks ago we advised the Board of Supervisors to take measures to prevent the spread of the small-pox; the only new case we have to report is that of E. T. Hargrave, one of the two Supervisors that was present at the meeting following the appearance of that article. When he recovers he will no doubt favor the taking of precautionary steps.

In justice to James Rhodes of Tip-Top, whose name appeared in last week's HERALD in connection with the killing of Ed. Grindell, we will state that we have it from reliable authority that Rhodes was in no way whatever connected with the affair. Our informant last week must have been misled, same as ourselves, and we gladly make the correction, as it is the aim of the HERALD to do justice to all.

We are glad to see that the two Prescott newspapers are regarding the HERALD as a leader of public opinion. We refer to an article on mail routes in our issue of the 2d, and that part of it which calls for a postal service between Phoenix and Prescott is being briskly advocated by those papers. Now, if they will advocate a daily line from Phoenix to Stanwix, to connect with the coaches of the Southern Pacific line, they would get their mail 24 hours sooner than at present.

THE San Francisco Chronicle is at present exposing Grove L. Johnson, who represents Sacramento County in the California Legislature. We select that part of his career that will prove interesting to old Arizonans: "He fled from New York, went to Arizona, went into the Quartermaster's Department there, where all the stealing is done under his own brother, but under the assumed name of Miller. He passed in that department for a long time under the name of Miller, so as to avoid his pursuers, and in proof of that we will refer you to William Gouverneur Morris, of San Francisco, the United States Marshal."

John Lutgerding will start a new blacksmith and wagon making establishment upon his return from Yuma. This will make the fifth blacksmith shop in town.

GEN. O. B. WILLCOX.

This gentleman is now in command of the Department of Arizona he having relieved General A. V. Kaut several days ago. He is what we call a "West Pointer," having graduated therefrom in 1847. He was assigned to duty, and remained in the regular army until 1858, when he resigned and returned to the walks of civil life, and entered upon the practice of law. At the beginning of the civil war he entered the Union army at the head of the First Michigan Regiment of volunteers. In 1862 he was taken prisoner, and with others confined in Libby Prison, and after his release until the close of the war commanded the First Division of the Ninth Army Corps. General Willcox comes to us well recommended, both as a soldier and a gentleman. In appearance he is about five feet ten inches high, and weighs about one hundred and sixty pounds. He is about fifty-five years of age, and is quick in both his mental and physical activities, and no doubt is a man of great courage, and would prove himself a successful Indian fighter if occasion should call him and his command into the field. We sincerely hope that under his administration of military matters in our Territory that there will not be a repetition of the unhappy and unfortunate conflict of opinion as to how the Indians should be controlled and punished that has formerly existed between the heads of the civil and military authorities of the Territory. We see no reason whatever why there should not be perfect accord between the civil and military authorities of the Territory in the matter of protecting life and property from troublesome Indians, and the general public will demand that personal or private opinion shall give way to public peace and necessity.

THE true source of city, county and State prosperity lies, not so much in the amount of population, as in the number of bona fide property-holders. It makes a vast difference with a man who lives in a house or on a piece of land, whether or not it belongs to him. If he is simply a renter, he feels little or no interest in the property aside from the present benefit he can derive from its occupancy. There is little stimulus urging him to improve the property, and thus to increase its value. Personal ownership is essential to this, as it is also necessary to the promotion of a local, as well as a State and county pride and patriotism. A man will always feel deeper interest in his home, and also that county and State in which his home is located. The general interest is his interest, while his individual welfare is bound upon in that of his State. Feeling and knowing this, he is ever ready and willing to put forth all reasonable efforts to promote the welfare of the Territory, whether in the direction of agriculture, commerce, taxes, or in maintaining the integrity and honor of his native land and against intestine or foreign foes.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the County Recorder for the Mesa Canal Company, to take water from Salt River for agriculture, milling and manufacturing purposes, from a point two and a half miles above the crossing of the old McDowell road, and following the course of the old Montezuma Canal, 15 miles in length. Principal Office in Township 1 N. R. 5, E; capital stock $25,000, in 50 shares of $500 each. Incorporators—Chas. Crisman, Geo. W. Sirrine, Francis M. Pomeroy, Theodore C. Sirrine and Charles I. Robson.

GOLDEN STAR MINE.

Making Preparations for Active Development.

DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED.

A San Francisco Stock paper's Opinion of Its Ore—Its Superintendent.

At a meeting of the Golden Star Mining Co., Cave Creek District, Maricopa county Arizona, held February 13th, the following officers were elected to serve during the present year: President, Geo. L. Woods; Vice-President, Jas. F. Place; Secretary, I. W. Morgan; Superintendent, W. B. Hellings. Yesterday we paid a visit to the office of the company at room 32 Benson's building, corner Fine and Leidesdorff streets, and made a personal examination of the ore of the mine, which compares favorably with the best ores of the Pacific Coast. The press of Arizona speaks of the Golden Star in the highest terms of praise, and predicts great results as certain to come from it. By all who have seen it the opinion is invariable that it will equal, if not excel, in the size and richness the famous Vulture mine, which has produced over $2,000,000, and is now about being sold to San Francisco parties, for a very large sum of money. The Golden Star Company have just contracted for one of the most thorough and complete gold mills ever built in this city, and in addition to the batteries and pans they will run two Frue concentrating tables. It is estimated that the batteries will save at least seventy-five per cent of the gold and the remainder be collected by the Frue concentrators and then roasted in a small White furnace. The Frue tables are a new and important feature in gold milling and will prove a great success beyond any doubt, as the parties organizing this company have witnessed their efficient working at the Silver King works in Arizona. The mill and mine are under the energetic superintendence of Mr. W. B. Hellings, who has had nine years' business experience in Arizona, and who is favorably known to every citizen in the Territory. Mr. Hellings will engage first-class mill men in this city and a practical Nevada miner as foreman. The facilities for working this great gold vein are not surpassed, if they are equalled, upon any part of the globe. Wood and water in great abundance are found close at hand, the mill-site being only about 3000 feet from the mine. The ore will work $25 per ton without assorting and thousands of tons are in sight only awaiting the machinery necessary for its reduction. The only stock to be sold is ten thousand shares working capital which is already subscribed for in Philadelphia. The owners and managers of this valuable property intend working and developing it on a basis of actual merit and capacity to pay dividends, and not its prospective value to speculate upon its shares. Out of the depth of mines heavily, and oftentimes, wrongfully assessed, we are glad to call attention to the spirit and intent of the Golden Star Mining Company, and look forward to the time, not far distant we believe, when wonderful shipments of bullion will come forward to confirm our opinion of its richness as a mine, and to offer a still further confirmation of the great mineral wealth of Arizona.—S. F. Stock Report.

The Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee calls attention in this issue to all Democratic readers of the HERALD to a meeting in Phoenix April 6th.
